EXHIBITION
11 October, 2019—26 January, 2020
Tokyo, the transforming metropolis, has experienced a variety of social, economic and political shifts. The 1964 Summer Games, hosted by Tokyo, were the trigger to facilitate the rapid improvement of infrastructure. And the city is still changing—in advance of the 2020 Tokyo Summer Games (postponed to 2021). Following a period of strong economic growth up to the 1970s, Japan’s bubble economy of the 1980s greatly reduced property values. In the new century, the population ratio shifted to elderly-dominant, and the 2011 Great East Earthquake, tsunami and nuclear disaster critically altered the population’s sense of values for living. With Japanese architectural firm Atelier Bow-Wow taking on a double role as curator and exhibition designer, this exhibition explored the development of socio-architectural facilities and compared landscapes with art and performance generated from Tokyo between the two seminal worldwide games, in 1964 and 2020.

EXHIBITION
6 MARCH—19 JULY, 2020
Boro (“rags” or “tatters”) are patchwork textiles hand-pieced by peasants in Japan in the 19th and early 20th centuries. The inability to cultivate cotton in the northern climate of Tohoku necessitated the practice of stitching remnants of used fabric into utilitarian items, including blankets, coats and mittens. These hard-used garments—reworked over generations—express essential principles of Japanese ethics and aesthetics, such as an appreciation for distinguished imperfections and the avoidance of waste. For the first time in the U.S., this exhibition assembled over 50 archival pieces from the personal collection of folklorist and cultural anthropologist Chuzaburo Tanaka (1933-2013), presented alongside new portraits by editor-photographer Kyoichi Tsuzuki, designs by pioneers of Japanese avant-garde fashion Rei Kawakubo, Issey Miyake, Yohji Yamamoto and textile-based works by Susan Cianciolo and Christina Kim—part of a generation of contemporary artists influenced by the aesthetics and ethics of mending, patchwork and re-use. The installation, designed by New York architecture firm SO-IL, rediscovered this traditional handicraft, its history of survival and ingenuity, and its continued legacy within creative practices today.
In March 2020 the newly opened Boro exhibition was closed to the public under New York City’s lockdown during the COVID-19 pandemic. A multimedia tour of the exhibition and an educational tour for kids with related activities were offered to viewers through the Society’s website, and discussions and studio visits went virtual.

INSTALLATION
En trance: Tepppei Kaneuji
2020-21
For his new installation in the Society’s lobby garden, S. F. (Splash and Flakes), Tepppei Kaneuji combined natural elements—tree branches from New York City—with ready-made artificial items—tubing and pipe fittings—in bricolage sculptures that add a dynamic narrative to the space. Works from his signature series, White Discharge, for which he assembled everyday objects and plastic goods covered with white resin, were displayed on the second floor atrium.

PERFORMING ARTS
Japan Society’s 2019-20 Performing Arts season, while cut short by COVID-19, featured five full-scale productions—two of which enjoyed U.S. tours produced and organized by the Society. The season struck a balance between traditional and contemporary performing arts, and included such illustrious names as Shiro Sano, Kurouemon Katayama X and visual artist Tabaimo.

Following the COVID-19 lockdown in mid-March 2020, online viewers enjoyed JSEP ENCORE, a video series highlighting popular past performances, as well as a month-long streamed video performance of Seinendan Theater Company’s Control Officers, written and directed by Oriza Hirata, one of Japan’s most influential theater makers and pioneer of the “quiet theater” movement, that also featured a newly recorded Q&A with Hirata and Japan Society’s Artistic Director Yoko Shioya.

Reigakusha: Gagaku & Bugaku
21 September
Reigakusha: Gagaku & Bugaku was supported by Arts Council Tokyo (Tokyo Metropolitan Foundation for History and Culture), The Japan Foundation, The JEG Fund, and The Asahi Shimbun Foundation. This program was also supported, in part, by an award from the Japan-United States Friendship Commission as part of the institution-wide Passing the Torch series.

The distinguished gagaku ensemble Reigakusha presented two back-to-back shows with stunning performances of ancient and modern pieces as well as a bugaku piece—a traditional ensemble piece accompanied by dancers in court costumes. Dr. Joshua Banks Mailman, professor at Columbia
University’s Department of Music, led a pre-performance lecture an hour before curtain.

Kwaidan—Call of Salvation Heard from the Depths of Fear
24 October

Kwaidan was supported by Matsue City, The JEC Fund, and the ORIX Stewardship Foundation, and, in part, by public funds from the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs, in partnership with the City Council. Special thanks to the Embassy of Japan in the United States of America and Shimane Prefecture.

Acclaimed actor Shiro Sano gave a dynamic reading of his selection of Japanese folktales and writings by Lafcadio Hearn (1850-1904), highlighting the author’s open-minded view of Japan and the world. Accompanied by distinguished guitarist Kyoji Yamamoto, the performance was preceded by a lecture from Bon Koizumi, Hearn’s great-grandson and the Director of the Lafcadio Hearn Memorial Museum in Matsue City.

Taiten: Noh & Kyogen
14—16 November

Taiten: Noh & Kyogen was supported by the Agency for Cultural Affairs, Government of Japan through the Japan Arts Council, and, in part, by public funds from the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs, in partnership with the City Council. Taiten was presented in association with Yokohama Noh Theater. Pre-performance lectures were supported by the Japan-United States Friendship Commission, as part of the institution-wide Passing the Torch series, and the National Association of Japan-America Societies, with funding from the Japan Foundation Center for Global Partnership.

Kurouemon Katayama X returned to the Society’s stage with a modern noh play titled Taiten, originally created to commemorate the Taisho Emperor’s enthronement, to celebrate the new Emperor Naruhito and the Reiwa Era. Noritoshi Yamamoto from the prestigious Yamamoto Tojiro Family performed a beloved piece from the traditional kyogen repertoire, Kagyu (The Snail), Dr. Roberta Strippoli, amateur noh practitioner and professor at Binghamton University’s Department of Asian and American Studies, held a pre-performance lecture an hour before curtain.

The Unknown Dancer in the Neighborhood
10—14 January

The Unknown Dancer in the Neighborhood was presented by Japan Society as part of The Public Theater’s Under the Radar Festival 2020. This production was supported by Arts Council Tokyo (Tokyo Metropolitan Foundation for History and Culture), The Japan Foundation, and, in part, by public funds from the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs, in partnership with the City Council.

Playwright-director Suguru Yamamoto shared his multifaceted portrayal of city life in this one-man dance theater piece performed by Wataru Kitao, director/founder of Dance Company Baobab. The production featured Yamamoto’s signature directing style, in which invisible characters’ thoughts and feelings are conveyed through projected text.

Yamamoto held a special Q&A session for students from Marymount College and New York University following Tuesday night’s performance.

Fruits borne out of rust
6—7 March

Fruits borne out of rust was supported by the Agency for Cultural Affairs, Government of Japan through the Japan Arts Council, and The Japan Foundation through the Performing Arts JAPAN program. Special thanks to NEC Display Solutions Ltd.

Internationally known Japanese visual artist Tabaimo used her signature-style animations to transform the stage in this multimedia dance piece set to live music that probed themes surrounding birth and aging. Performed by Paris-based dancer Chiharu Mamiya, the program was also part of a four-city tour produced and organized by the Society. WORKSHOPS

Introduction to Gagaku for Musicians
22 September

Held in conjunction with Reigakusha: Gagaku & Bugaku. Members of the ensemble Reigakusha introduced the individual instruments in a traditional gagaku ensemble, providing a rare opportunity for amateur and professional musicians to try their hand at them.

The Basics of Noh & Kyogen
15—16 November

Held in conjunction with Taiten: Noh & Kyogen. This two-day workshop introduced the basic movements from two of Japan’s most distinguished theatrical traditions. The first day was led by Kurouemon Katayama X and focused on the intricate costumes and history of noh. On the second day, members of the prestigious Yamamoto Tojiro Family taught the exaggerated physicality and voice work needed to perform kyogen—noh’s comedic cousin.

The season was sponsored by Lead Sponsor MetLife Foundation and Corporate Partner Orix Stewardship Foundation. Major support was provided by The New York City Department of Cultural Affairs in partnership with the City Council, Doug and Teresa Peterson, The New York State Council on the Arts with the support of Governor Andrew M. Cuomo and the New York State Legislature, and The Fan Fox and Leslie R. Samuels Foundation, Inc. Additional support was provided by Dr. and Mrs. Carl F. Taeusch II, Dean Jeanette C. Takamura, Mr. Alan M. Suhonen, Sarah Billinghurst Solomon and Howard Solomon, The Royal Little Family Foundation, Pamela Perlman, Mr. Norton Belknap‡, Dr. John K. Gillespie, Paula S. Lawrence, Dr. Stephen and Mrs. Michiko Levine, Hiroko Onoyma, Karen and Samuel Richardson, and Lyndley and Samuel Schwab. Endowment support was provided by Lila Wallace-Reader’s Digest Endowment Fund and the Endowment for the Performing Arts, established with a leadership gift from the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation. Special transportation assistance was provided by All Nippon Airways Co., Ltd. Yamaha was the official piano provider of Japan Society. MetLife Meet-the-
