Please Note: Due to COVID-19, all of these courses will be conducted online via Zoom. To participate fully, you will need access to a device with internet, microphone, and camera (such as a laptop, smartphone, or tablet). Please note that all times listed are New York time (ET).

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS:
Shodō is an art form using a brush and charcoal ink on paper, wood plaques, and fabric. It includes Chinese characters (kanji) and Japanese hiragana. Although it originated in the techniques used for letter writing, with its unique form of expression it has developed into an art genre.

During the Zoom classes, the instructor will give a demonstration in the beginning, and then you get to practice. Participants are expected to share their artwork with each other to enhance mutual learning.

Please note this is not a language course. If you wish to learn Japanese language, please see our other courses.

Shodo for Beginners:
Students will learn the brush strokes used in the basic楷書 (kaisho)/regular script. This will be a small class size, and the course will involve both homework practice and in-class time over Zoom. (For details of the schedule, please read below.) In the Zoom class, students are expected to show their work with the teacher and other students so that everyone can learn from each other. Students must purchase their own supplies ahead of beginning coursework, and the Language Center can provide recommendations for supplies. This course will prepare you for the Shodo Basic Kanji course.

No prior Shodo or Japanese language experience necessary. Sections A and B are identical in content.
Shodo Basic Kanji:
This course is for those who have previous experience with Japanese calligraphy or have finished ‘Shodo for Beginners’ at Japan Society. Students will mainly learn how to write Kanji in the 楷書 (kaisho)/regular script. In the class, the instructor will give a demonstration in the beginning, and then students will get to practice. This course is designed to be taken multiple times, and will help prepare you for the Shodo Kanji course (please consult with your instructor for approval before enrolling in Shodo Kanji).

Prerequisite: students must have previously enrolled in the Shodo for Beginners course or have taken at least 1 course (5+ lessons) of Shodō at Japan Society. (If you do not fit this prerequisite but have previous experience with Japanese calligraphy, please contact us at language@japansociety.org.) Complete beginners to Japanese calligraphy should enroll in Shodo for Beginners.

Shodo Kanji:
Every week, two typefaces from 行書 (gyosho) /semi-cursive, 草書 (sosho) /cursive, and 隶書 (reisho) /clerical script are practiced in the class. This class is for those who have previous experience with Japanese calligraphy and have learned the basic 楷書 (kaisho)/regular script already.

Prerequisite: students must have enrolled at least once in Shodo Basic Kanji at Japan Society, or have already learned the basic kaisho/regular script style. (If you do not fit this prerequisite but have significant previous experience with Japanese calligraphy, please contact us at language@japansociety.org.)

Shodo Kana:
Students will write 俳句 (haiku) and 短歌 (tanka) using the Japanese syllabaries of hiragana, man'yogana (classic hiragana), and 草書 (sosho) /cursive script. This course is not for beginners.

Prerequisite: For participants with intermediate level Shodo experience and above. Hiragana recognition and writing is required. (If you do not fit this prerequisite but have significant previous experience with Japanese calligraphy, please contact us at language@japansociety.org.)

Schedule:
This course will consist of self-study, instructor-student dialogue, and instructor demonstration. The structure for both courses is as follows:

Assignment Sample: by Monday prior to the class
The instructor will correspond with students (by email) about assignment samples. Students will work individually and submit the completed assignment(s) by the due date (see below). Please note, this will begin on the Monday prior to the first Friday class meeting. If Monday is a holiday, the instructor will send the assignment on Friday night the week before.
Please print the assignment samples out in advance so that you can use them in practice or in class.

Sample Due Date: by Friday at 10 am ET
Students submit their assignment(s) to the instructor via email (ideally in a .pdf file) before class (by 10:00 am Friday) or after class. The instructor will email feedback to each student except on Sundays.

Class Meeting: see schedule
Students will meet with the instructor on Zoom. The instructor will review key points and details from that week’s sample for the first 5-10 minutes, and then for the rest of class will work with students individually on technique, etc. This will happen with everyone in the same Zoom meeting, so students will also hear/see feedback given to other students. We recommend that while not working directly with the instructor, students may practice the ideas introduced at the start of class and the sample assignment. The instructor may work with each student more than once.

She has taught calligraphy for 20 years in schools and cultural institutes in New York, The New School, the Long Island Japanese Culture Center, the Japanese American Society of New Jersey, Japanese Schools, the Hammond Museum, The Mid-Hudson Japanese Community Association, Arts Mid-Hudson as well as her own private studio. As a modern-day calligrapher, she has performed live calligraphy at Rotary Clubs, museums, and cultural festivals as an artist, and has been engaged in commercial projects including marketing materials, logos, school certificates, and industrial designs.

SHODÔ SUPPLIES:
Students are required to purchase their own materials for at-home use. Shodô materials include: brush, ink (liquid or ink stone and stick), a felt pad, and a paperweight. Hanshi paper if you have it, or printer copy paper will be fine as well.

Devices include: a computer, tablet, or smart phone which has a camera, microphone, and speaker. It is preferred that you set up a camera to show your work/brush strokes live, rather than your face. This could mean using a stand or creating a comparable set up. If you have two devices, you could create an arrangement where the instructor can see both your work and your face.

If you are purchasing supplies, please do so far enough in advance so that you receive the materials before your first class. The Language Center is not responsible for delays resulting in a student not being prepared by the first class session, and the cancellation policy still applies (see below).

If you need assistance acquiring Shodô materials, setting up your technology/checking your camera angle, or further information, please email language@japansociety.org.
